

"The time-honored way to get Americans back to work is to allow them to keep more of their hard-earned money."

Washington, Feb 24 - U.S. Congressman Mike Pence issued the following statement in response to President Obama's address to a joint

Congressman Pence
welcomes the President's call
for fiscal discipline

session of Congress:

"American families are hurting and I welcome the President's call for fiscal discipline. However, as we work to address these issues, this is not the time to raise taxes on small businesses and family farms as the President wants to do. The time-honored way to get Americans back to work is to allow them to keep more of their hard-earned money. I look forward to working with the President to get the American people back to work."
